Clark University in Worcester celebrates completion of its new Alumni and Student Engagement Center

On Friday, October 14, Clark University held a donor recognition event to celebrate completion of its new Center, a signature building for Clark. Located on Main Street across from the main campus, the Center is home for Clark's recently-launched LEEP (Liberal Education and Effective Practice) program, and a place where alumni, students, faculty and outside partners can connect and reconnect.

The new Center is an innovative 36,000 square foot, 4-story building, topped with a solar canopy, that transforms an underdeveloped site and links the main campus green with University Park.

For this project, MHIC provided $7 million in New Markets Tax Credit financing as one of two CDEs. U.S. Bancorp Community Development Corporation is the New Markets Tax Credit investor.
